

Stephen R. Waite

Author

Venture Investing in Science and Quantum Investing

Steve is a noted Strategic Corporate Advisor and Author with over three decades of experience researching, investing in, and advising technology ventures. He has extensive experience in global business, economics, and financial markets with tenures at SoundView Technology Group, The InfoPro, Inc, CSAM/BEA Associates, The Capital Group, Morgan Stanley & Co and Merrill Lynch. Steve was a Co-founder, Managing Director and Chief Knowledge Officer of a multi-billion-dollar investment management firm on Wall Street, with responsibility for managing and co-managing several of the company's flagship investment products.

Steve is author of the book Quantum Investing, and co-author of the books, Venture Investing in Science, Graphene Technology, and Boomernomics. For the past fifteen years, he has served on the Advisory Board of Future in Review (FiRe), which The Economist has called "the best technology conference in the world." He participates regularly as a moderator and speaker at FiRe. A former highly-rated Adjunct Professor of Finance at Quinnipiac University, he has a M.S. in Economics from the Pennsylvania State University.